An Invitation:

Join us in lifting our voices in solidarity with our siblings in Minneapolis as they continue to rise up against the targeting of immigrant families and the violence being inflicted on their communities. Across Minnesota, people are turning to song as a way to protect one another, build courage, and strengthen collective resistance. You can stand in solidarity today by recording yourself singing “We Are Many” and sharing it on social media. Let your voice be part of the chorus calling for dignity, safety, and freedom for all.

When sharing the song via socials be sure to share this link and let others know to call your senators this week to demand No More $ for ICE. <https://www.iceoutnowmn.com/>

More information about the song and how to share it effectively is below.

About the Song

---

“We Are Many” was written by Katie Eckerberger in response to an unprecedented surge of ICE enforcement in the Twin Cities, a deployment that has sparked national outrage and mobilization following the fatal shooting of Renée Nicole Good by an ICE agent in Minneapolis on January 7, 2026. In Minnesota, singing has become a powerful way for communities to come together to protect one another, build courage, and strengthen collective solidarity in the face of targeted immigration operations and rising resistance.

This song was shared with the Songs in the Key of Resistance Collective by Minneapolis song leader Liz Digitale Anderson. It is a testament to how cultural work and community care are interwoven in the struggle for justice and freedom.

We Are The Many Lyrics

We are many (echo)
We are one
We won't stop fighting
Til ice is gone

We are many
We are one
The fight ain't over
Til love has won

More about the Kairos Center for Religions, Rights and Social Justice and *Songs in the Key Of Resistance

---

Songs in the Key of Resistance (SKOR) is a cross-movement project, hosted by the Kairos Center for Religions, Rights, and Social Justice, for artists, organizers, faith leaders, and community members to come together in song. We gather to learn and share music for demonstrations, direct actions, and community rituals; to tell stories of hope and resistance; and to create the world we know is possible.

We lift up the practice of organizing through song—recognizing that music, when used intentionally and strategically, grounds our communities, energizes our spirits, sets tone and intention, and helps us grieve, celebrate, and connect our struggles. Music is not a decoration—it is foundational to how we express our deepest values and collective dreams. Through SKOR, we are working to reclaim and reimagine the role of music in building powerful movements for justice and liberation.
